“Every woman knows
that if she were free,
she would never bear
an unwished-for child,
nor think of murdering
one before its birth.”

— Victoria Woodhull was America's first female presidential candidate. Wheeling, West Virginia Evening Standard November 17, 1875

March is Women's History Month, a time to celebrate the women in America's past who promoted equal rights, dignity and justice for all Americans. We at the Susan B. Anthony List are most proud to call to mind the early feminists' opposition to abortion – what Susan B. Anthony herself called “the horrible crime of child murder.”

We carry on the legacy of Susan B. Anthony and these tremendous women in history by our goals to train pro-life activists and candidates, advocate the passage of pro-life legislation in Congress, and increase the percentage of pro-life women in Congress.

And during Women's History Month, we salute the women in America's past who stood to promote civil rights for all people – female or male, black or white, born or unborn.
